

News and Views from the Capital City

By T. B. Windross

Edmonton, Alta., May 4.—The provincial cabinet has been increased by addition of Lucien Maynard, of St. Paul, deputy speaker of the legislature, Premier Aberhart announced this week. Mr. Maynard's job will be to take charge of the promotion of Social Credit plans. He will be minister without portfolio.

Mr. Maynard is a young barrister and member of the legislature as chairman of the committee of the whole during the session with his ability and energy. The selection for a cabinet post is regarded favorably in Social Credit circles generally.

Discussion of matters connected with the coming by-election in the Edmonton constituency still occupy the attention of the citizens of the capital. The Liberal hopes for an acclamation have now gone by the board and at least two other candidates, one representing the Communists and the other the Laborites, are in the field it is indicated. There may be some dispute over selection of a Liberal standard bearer, and at least three contenders for the honor have shown their willingness to accept nomination. These are Dr. W. Morish, J. S. Cowper, newspaper man, and A. S. Shandro, ex-M.L.A. and organizer of the Alberta Basic Dividend association.

A kind of ultimatum has been issued by the body known as the Consumers' League, whose secretary, F. S. Wright, stated during the week that unless the Liberal convention, to be held May 12, picks J. S. Cowper as its candidate the league will enter the contest with its own candidate. Mr. Shandro was Liberal candidate in the Whitford riding in the 1935 election and met defeat.

The election date has been definitely set for June 22 by the government. The order-in-council was signed this week.

Hon. E. C. Manning and his bride are expected to be in the city after their honeymoon trip to the Pacific coast and California, and the minister will find a high stack of work awaiting his action on his return to his office Monday or Tuesday.

Hon. Charles Cockroft, provincial treasurer, is reported to be working on problems connected with imposition of the sales tax. Considerable confusion is said to exist among merchants regarding the items on which it is levied and the proper or best way to collect it. Changes and additions to the regulations governing the collection of the tax are said, in government circles, to be necessary in order to clarify existing difficulties.

Doubtless the collection will work smoothly in time, but just now the situation is somewhat uncertain. The tax came into effect on Friday, but all foods are exempt as well as all other necessities of life. A long list of exemptions has been issued by the department.

E. M. Gunderson, superintendent of income tax for the province, has been given the job of collecting this tax. He is to be acting superintendent of the provincial sales tax branch. A. Mara, former credit manager for Edmonton wholesale firms, has been appointed chief inspector under the sales tax act. Five other inspectors, two in each of the two big cities and one for Medicine Hat and Lethbridge, will be named also. They will be provided mostly by transfers from other departments.

Sale of Alberta goods at prices lower than imported goods can be sold at in the province is the government's policy as laid down by Premier Aberhart in an interview during the past week. This is one of the results envisioned by the premier from the plan to develop and expand industry within the province.

Encouragement will be given to all firms, old and new, engaged in processing the province's own raw materials. The plan also includes a scheme to provide cheap electric power for manufacturing firms within the province.

"We are going to encourage people to buy Alberta-made goods, and to do so these goods must be sold at prices lower than those of similar imported goods," the premier stated. A plan is being worked out by which this can be done without sacrificing either the producer or the retailer, Mr. Aberhart indicated.

James McQueen, district engineer at Hanna, for the provincial department of public works, was reinstated in his position last Tuesday, although he had been notified of his dismissal. Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of Public Works, in making the announcement, said, "Mr. McQueen will continue in his position for the time being. I find that we will need someone in that position at Hanna after all," Mr. Fallow explained, "and there is no one else who could be sent to the position just now."

Mr. Fallow left for Ottawa on Saturday and will confer during that week with Hon. Norman Rogers, federal minister of labor, on the Dominion allocations to Alberta for the summer's work-and-wages construction program. The conference has been set for Tuesday. Over $2,000,000 is being set aside by the federal government for highway construction in Alberta and it is expected this sum will be added to the provincial fund to be spent in such undertakings.

Premier Aberhart was back on the air over radio station C.J.C.A. Sunday night between 9 and 10.30 after being off for some weeks. The Edmonton Prophetic Bible Conference service has been changed to the later hour in the Strand theatre to meet the requirements of broadcasting.

The department of Education has begun selection of 200 teachers to mark the school examination papers, commencing June 15. The papers will be written by grades 10, 11 and 12 pupils. Grade 9 pupils are promoted on the basis of work done during the school year. All papers are expected to be marked by August 1. Between 65,000 and 70,000 papers are to be scanned.

United Church Notes

Mother's Day will be observed at all points next Sunday, May 10th. The Irma Sunday school, in its regular session at 11.00 a.m. will use the order of service prepared by the Religious Education Council, under the theme "The Spirit of the Home in the Life of the Church." The program is aptly entitled "A Parents' Day in the Church School," a reminder to parents that they are especially welcome on this occasion. This order of service will also be used at Albert at 11 a.m. where the service will be held under the auspices of the local C.G. I.T. group. The services at Alma Mater at 8 p.m. and Irma at 8 o'clock will also be in keeping with Mother's Day. The pastor's subject at all points will be "Golden Glances of Motherhood as seen in Mary the Mother of Jesus." Friends in the Irma community are reminded that from now until further notice services will commence at 8 p.m.

It has been arranged for the Irma girls' choir to go to the Paschenade appointment for the service at 11 a.m. on Sunday, May 17th, where they will repeat the Cantata "The Promise of Easter" which was so successfully rendered in the Irma church on Good Friday. The visit of the choir was much appreciated a year ago, and a good attendance will doubtless give them a hearty welcome on this occasion. The ladies of the congregation are providing luncheon for the girls after the service.

It has now been decided to make Crescent Hill a regular appointment and commencing Sunday, May 17th, services will be held there at 3 p.m. every alternate Sunday. The service at Roseberry being withdrawn friends in this community will be within easy reach of either Alma Mater, Crescent Hill or Paschenade, according to their particular location, so no one will be deprived of the opportunity of attending service by this change.

There will be a lecture in the Irma church on the evening of Thursday, May 14th, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid, by Miss Grace Pattulo of Edmonton, entitled "Young Alberta sees Australia." Miss Pattulo is the winner of an essay competition that rewarded her with a five month trip to Australia. A United church minister writes "We were more than pleased with the fine lecture. . . All found the evening most interesting and worth-while, and I have heard many tributes to her ability as a speaker. I doubt if I have ever witnessed any speaker, old or young, hold the breathlessly quiet attention of a group of small boys the way Grace did. . . and the older people were equally interested." She will also bring with her a fine collection of curios, corals, etc.

Beacock Baby Passes Away

Friends of Irma and Vermilion were very sorry to hear of the death of Baby James Frederick Melvin Beacock, 9 months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Beacock of Irma, on Saturday, May 2nd.

The baby had been quite ill for over a week with what was thought to be bronchial pneumonia, but seemed brighter Saturday morning. However it was not to be, for he slipped quickly away at 4.50 p.m. to be with his two little sisters who had gone 9 months ago.

A short service was held in the Irma church Monday morning, after which the body was taken to Vermilion church and from there interment took place in the Vermilion cemetery. The pallbearers were Arthur Knudson, Bob Simmerman, Albert Glasgow and Allison Carter.

He leaves to mourn his early passing besides his sorrowing parents, three sisters and three brothers, Mona, Dorothy, Iola, Everett, Donald and Leighton.

Many expressions of sympathy and help were received by the bereaved ones, and a large circle of friends join the Times in extending sincere regrets to those who mourn.

Social Time at Glenholm

One of the best social evenings that was ever held in the Glenholm district took place in the school on Saturday, April 25th.

Among the items was a very interesting debate, "Resolved that Rural Life Offers More Advantages than City Life." The negative side came out victors. R. B. Bennett and Wm. Aberhart have nothing over these debaters when it comes to public speaking.

Many fine musical items and recitations were rendered by local talent. There was also a fascinating demonstration of club swinging given. Ask the children, they'd likely say the Shadow Operation, which caused so much laughter, was the most interesting item.

The play, "The Obstinate Family" went over with a bang. Don't be surprised if there's a call from Hollywood.

The program closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Lunch was served which resulted in "the end of a perfect day."

Everyone enjoyed the evening and many extended their thanks to the young people of the district with the hopes that they'd render another program very soon.

The Queen Mary

Disappointment is probably in store for millions in the British Empire who have conceived the impression that the first trip of the Cunard-White Star's super-liner, the Queen Mary, scheduled for May 27, is a world sporting event of the first magnitude with the blue ribbon of the Atlantic, for speed as the stakes.

The speed record for the Atlantic was held for the British for 22 years by the Cunard Steamship Company's Mauretania until August, 1929, when the title passed to the Rex, flying the flag of Italy, and has not since been recovered by any vessel carrying the Union Jack.

Millions have been led to believe that the Queen Mary is expected to win back the speed supremacy of the North Atlantic for Great Britain and as a result of the great amount of publicity given to this vessel during the course of her construction and on the occasion of her launching at Clydebank a few weeks ago they confidently anticipate that this consummation is to be achieved by the new boat, but this, according to the London Times, is not the purpose of the construction of this great steamship.

On the contrary, the Times shatters this and other misconceptions of the purpose and mission of the Queen Mary. Not only was she not built to wrest the speed supremacy of the North Atlantic from another country but, we are told, she was not designed to be the most luxurious liner afloat, despite reams of descriptive material which has been published emphasizing the lavish nature of her appointments and equipment.

"The problem," says the Times, "was not to build a ship so big and so fast as to stagger creation." The problem all along was to build "the smallest and slowest ship that could form one half of a weekly service."

Continuing the Times says: "Speed is very expensive; and a ship must be big to pay for it. On the other hand size is also expensive; and there is need for nice calculation. The Queen Mary is not meant to be the biggest and fastest ship afloat. She is not meant to be a 'luxury' ship at all. It has been made perfectly clear that the luxury will be there for those who seek it; but one advantage of great size in a ship is that room can be made for all sorts of people, and the Queen Mary is not for the rich only."

However, if the Queen Mary is not designed to be the largest ship afloat or the fastest boat on the seven seas or even the most luxurious, she has claims to distinction which make her an impressive monument to the brains responsible for her creation, exemplified in the words stability, strength and safety and these attributes have been achieved without undue sacrifice of size, speed and lavishness.

On the contrary, the Queen Mary is of noble proportions and embodies the last word in naval architecture; marine engineering and scientific research.

Every conceivable device has been adopted to justify the claim made for the Queen Mary that she is the safest ship afloat and that passengers aboard her will be safer than in their own homes. To quote a recent issue of Pearson's Weekly she is "so well equipped with scientific instruments that it will be literally possible, with a little adjustment, to send her from Southampton to New York without a man aboard," and, "she will be able to steam through impenetrable fog at 40 miles per hour, automatically steered and protected from collision with ships and objects."

These devices include a "radio searchlight" with which the Normandie is also fitted, a continuous beam of ultra-short radio waves which sweep the horizon ahead of the bows of the advancing vessel and record obstructions on a sensitive receiver.

Another is the infra-red ray detector to locate other vessels or icebergs at a great distance in dense fog or black night. "The latest detector of this kind," says the writer in Pearson's Weekly, "is so sensitive to changes in heat waves that it can detect a man through a mile of heavy fog by the heat of his body."

The boat is equipped with an automatic helmsman, consisting of a gyro, electrically connected with the steering gear in such fashion that if the vessel defects one half degree from the set course it will automatically be swung back on the true course. An "echo sounder" will guard the vessel against striking a submerged wreck or iceberg growlers, which hardly show above the surface.

The Queen Mary is practically fireproof. Each cabin is safeguarded by a thermostatic alarm which automatically sets water sprinklers in action when the temperature rises above a certain level and the "electric eye" will be used to detect fire in the holds. At the slightest trace of smoke the electric eye will sound the alarm and release a stream of carbon dioxide gas, automatically selecting the burning hold and smothering the blaze.

A unique safety feature is the design of the lifeboats. There are 24 steel motor-driven lifeboats, each large enough to carry 145 passengers and equipped with skids on their hulls which would enable them to be launched in safety even if the Queen Mary were listing at the extraordinary angle of 70 degrees.

New Uniform Calendar Plan

Provides International Holiday and Five Business Holidays Yearly

With a suggestion that it be put into effect on January 1, 1933, Rev. Father Jacob Wilhelm of Regina has drafted a reform calendar which provides for the days of the week always falling on the same dates of each month.

Under Father Wilhelm's plan the four quarters of the year are equal with 31 days for the first month of each quarter, and 30 days each for the other two months except that 31 days are provided for December to give a total of 365 for the year. An extra day is wedged in between June 30 and July 1 every fourth year to be known as "leap day."

The year will start with January 1 labelled as "international holiday" and January 2 is to be a Sunday with December 31 a Saturday. If the calendar were adopted Good Friday would always fall on April 7 and Easter Monday on April 9.

It is suggested that Saturdays falling on January 1, April 1, July 1 and October 1 be made business holidays, giving with international day on January 1, five business holidays each year. The first four, according to Rev. Father Wilhelm, would be known as rest days when "everyone should carry out a review of his debts or profits."

The calendar is designed to offset objections of the Christian churches to the recently announced plan to provide for a year of 13 months containing 28 days each.

Patient Revived

Apparently Dead For Some Minutes Is Resuscitated On Operating Table

Another case of a patient who "died" on the operating table, only to be brought back to life again by heart massage and injections of adrenaline, is described in the current issue of the British Medical Journal.

The patient, Ernest Hinsley, about 45, of Waterloo, Ashton, is now normal again, but has no memory of having been to the operating theatre.

His heart, said Dr. J. V. Fiddian, stopped without warning and Hinsley ceased to breathe. Efforts at resuscitation began immediately and the "usual two or three minutes were wasted in fruitless artificial respiration."

Dr. Fiddian then resorted to cardiac massage, and continued this for two minutes without feeling any spontaneous movement of the heart. He then injected intra-cardiac adrenaline into the ventricle.

"The effect," he writes, "was immediate and almost magical. With each squeeze that followed the heart was felt to be enlarging and suddenly it began to beat wildly."

"It was several minutes more before spontaneous respiration was established, but after that there was no further immediate anxiety."

"The patient was returned to bed with his heart still beating tumultuously, in a manner strongly suggestive of an overdose of adrenaline."

It's an alternative extract from twelve roots.

Floods and Sun Spots

Are Closely Connected Is Opinion Of Planetarium Director

Floods that have swept the eastern part of North America during the past few weeks are "definitely correlated" with sun spots "and we may expect damp, rainy weather for the next four or five years because these spots are fast reaching a maximum intensity," Dr. Clyde Fisher, director of the Hayden planetarium and fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society, said in a lecture at Providence, Rhode Island.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks ugly.

A more bowel movement doesn't always get the same. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel 'up' again. Harmless and gentle. They make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a cathartic but have no action on the bowels. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. See

Overcomes Difficulties

Young Born Deaf and Dumb Learns To Talk And Graduates From University

Born deaf and dumb 23 years ago, Hillis Arnold, University of Minnesota graduate, has accomplished two objectives—speech and completion of a three-year mural painting project.

The youth's mother, Mrs. A. L. Arnold, said she taught Hillis lip reading. She patiently enunciated words slowly. Hillis repeated them by watching how she formed the syllables with her lips. Unable to hear, he was unable to control his tone.

His mother with her hands, indicated when he was speaking too loudly or too softly. To-day he speaks in a clearly understandable moderate tone.

The youth entered the university engineering school in 1931. In his senior year he began an art project, a series of murals depicting the work of various engineering professions. To-day the job—100 feet of murals, five feet high—was completed and he was free to devote his time to another job, as instructor in the Minneapolis Institute of Art.

Building Flying Boats

Imperial Airways To Operate A World-Wide Service

More than 1,000 skilled men are engaged at Rochester, England, in building a fleet of 29 giant flying-boats for operation by Imperial Airways on world-wide services—including the Atlantic.

There are two decks to the new flying boats, lower being for passenger accommodation and the top for crew (two pilots, two stewards, and a purser), mails and baggage.

The gross weight of the new ships will be 17½ tons, and they will be powered by four 740-h.p. engines, giving a maximum speed of nearly 200 m.p.h. and a cruising speed of 155 m.p.h. Underneath the pilots' cabin is a comfortable smoking room, and there are two more cabins more than eight feet high with adjustable lounge chairs.

There is daytime accommodation for 24 passengers and for 16 sleeping in bunk beds by night.

Issuing New Coinage

Canada Could Improve On Design When Making Change

With the coronation of King Edward VIII, Canada, in common with the rest of the Empire, will issue a new coinage. Would not the present, while we still have a year or so, be a good opportunity for the Government to call together a body of artists and experts to submit designs for coins that would be a little more representative of Canadian artistic accomplishment than the exceedingly unattractive ones which, year after year, generation after generation, reign after reign, come from the mint with such deadly monotony?

Tradition declares that upon each accession the effigy of the new Sovereign upon the obverse side of the coin shall be reversed. When we have done that we in Canada are apparently content to allow the funeral wreath of maple leaves on the reverse side—which on a slightly worn coin much more closely resembles those of the cabbage and the rather sprawling legend within it to continue to "symbolize" Canada. The comparatively new Canadian nickel is one of the ugliest coins in circulation anywhere.

Other countries are paying increasing attention to the attractiveness of their coins from an aesthetic point of view. Some of the newer United States specimens are things of real artistic beauty, indicative of the country's progress in the arts of sculptural design and modelling. There are surely competent artists in the Dominion who would welcome an invitation to compete for designs for coins of different values, and out of such competition there might come a coinage of which, from an artistic point of view, Canada could be legitimately proud. — Montreal Star.

Smallest Book Printed With Ink From Copper Plates

The world's smallest book, which is a quarter of an inch long, three-sixteenths wide, and weighs a grain and a quarter, is for sale in London. The most surprising thing about the text—which is E. F. Thompson's rendering of selected verses of the Rubaiyat—is that it is properly printed from minute copper plates, with ink, on paper, and not merely produced by photograph. The pages are stitched by hand and bound in leather. The verses look like small dark stains on the paper, and can be read only with a magnifying glass. When the book was being printed in Worcester, Massachusetts, in 1932 it was found that the vibration of a passing motor-car was enough to blur the type.

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with "Aspirin."

We say this because, before the discovery of "Aspirin," most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of "Aspirin" largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken "Aspirin" year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: "Aspirin" is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains. . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

Three Dimensional Animated Cartoons To Be Shown

Three dimensional animated cartoons which can be shown with regular movie projection equipment and without use of any gadget by audiences were announced by Max Fleischer, pioneer in the animated cartoon field.

Fleischer declares his invention has passed the experimental stage, and that full length animated cartoons using the third dimension throughout will be released within six months.

Fleischer obtains the third dimensional effect by foreshortening the perspective of the camera to six feet and using a special lens which does not focus directly on the objects photographed.

FLEMING'S FOLLY

— BY —
LAWRENCE A. KEATING

SYNOPSIS

The story opens with Link Fleming addressing a meeting of Boone County cattlemen, called together with the object of forming an irrigation company.

The meeting terminates, but Buzz Hamilton and his sister, Helen, Link and Kilgo stay behind and Helen asks Fleming questions about his irrigation plan. This angers Buzz, who accuses Fleming of trying to influence his sister and, as he asserts, ruin his "spread". Buzz shoots at Fleming in an uncontrollable fit of anger, but Buster Townsend, Link's foreman, is shot in the stomach, and Fleming is uninjured. Buzz is arrested and sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

Helen and Fleming form a partnership to provide irrigation for their own properties.

Fleming goes home and studies the plans drawn by Torney to learn whether they can be adapted to a smaller scheme suitable for his and Helen's land, and is satisfied it could be done. Feeling cold, he lights the fire and there is an explosion that wrecks the house, burns it and the plans and renders Link unconscious. He is rescued from the blaze by an employee.

Helen and Link ride to Rawhide for supplies and to obtain funds to carry out the dam project. They meet Roper, who greets Helen and offers to shop with her. Link goes to see the Sheriff, who tells him Buzz Hamilton has been paroled, and would arrive on the incoming stage.

Buzz Hamilton arrives back in Rawhide while Fleming and Helen are in the bank getting a loan for payment of wages for work on the dam. Roper Kilgo and Jackpot Mell meet him and he goes into the saloon with them. By the time his throwin' monkey wrenches in the machinery of buildin' yore dam. But who would it be? Otto Pieper, maybe? You owe Otto considerable money, don't yuh, Link? And in case it came to a sheriff's sale the Stockmen's Bank'd come off first bet.

He pursed his lips as again he studied the writing. "This isn't like Pieper's hand— Besides, I hardly think he would hire a man like Vailie to try to crack a sluice gate and get my workers to strike. No," he mused, "somebody else is behind Gyp."

"Break a sluice gate, eh?" Bush gave a low whistle. "Well, you'll have to keep your eyes open, Link. Some folks can't get along without pryin' into other folks' business, and I reckon yuh made lots o' enemies, buildin' that dam."

"By the way," he went on, chuckling, "a couple of hours ago I was talkin' to a man in the Trailend Hotel in town, and happened to glance out the window in time to see some different human nature."

He winked and nudged his friend. "You and a certain young lady had that sick calf look, standing hand in hand, staring at Ivy Lane's jewelry. Ought to buy her a diamond and get married, Link. It's the life!"

The other struck a match for the cigar Bush had tendered him, and expelled a cloud of smoke to snuff the flame. "Marry?" he returned good naturedly. "I've got troubles enough now."

"Yes," Marty stared toward the light streak in the foothills that was the Silver Creek Dam. That's what I'm here to talk about, your troubles. Wantin' to ship steers day after tomorrow?"

Fleming led the way back to the ranch house stoop where both men rested on a non-manual bench. "Helen and I are short-handed, but we're rounding up everything with horns and a tail. We're depending on you, Marty, to sell it for us."

Bush made no reply for a moment. "I'd like to see you hold your beef another ten days, Link. I've studied the market quite some time now, and it's my judgment yuh'd get more money. Steers for market ain't so plentiful, but it won't be reflected in price till shipments sag under last year."

"Marty, just between us—and I wouldn't say this to another man in the county—Helen and I have to tell you. We've got to have cash, or else."

"Him?" He gestured significantly. "Heard about her gettin' robbed of the eight hundred?" The agent cast a sidelong glance at Link. "Hit you purty hard?"

Fleming nodded. "Look here, Marty proceeded, "I want to see yuh get top price for your beef because you really need it so much. Wouldn't like to sell me a hundred acres o' the worst land, would yuh, Link?"

The youth laid a hand on his friend's knee. "Do you believe in the dam?"

"General opinion's against it, yuh know. And I backed out once."

"I wouldn't sell you a hundred acres of solid gold, Marty, unless yuh really had faith in it."

There was a full minute of silence. The cattle agent's cherubic countenance wore a troubled look. Finally he said: "Link, would yuh—uh—like to borrow a couple hundred?"

Fleming was wholly surprised. He happened to know that Marty's diminutive wife, Lenore, had just recovered from a costly illness.

"Thanks," he said with feeling. "I couldn't give security except my steers. I'm keepin' 'em clear because I'll need 'em cent they'll bring. And more, I reckon."

Bush scratched his bulbous nose. He dug inside his calfskin jacket, produced a two-inch-thick packet, and tossed it on his host's lap. "Ho hum," he yawned, rising to stretch wearily. "There's five hundred in small bills. Thought that'd suit yuh best. I got to ride over to Plidge Somers' place an' talk beef with him. So lo—"

"Marty! Well," Link confessed, exceedingly pleased as he fingered the money, "I guess you're crazy. But—oh, shucks!" he exclaimed. "I'm shore obliged!"

"No"—mockingly. "Link, get me Triple H an' Star Loop beef to Holmes Junction early Thursday mornin', and I'll fix you up. Want cash then too, eh? So long, Fleming's Folly! See yuh in bankruptcy court."

While he made off on his horse Link stared at the wad of bills in his hand. Grinning, he went at length to the corral where he transferred his saddle to a skittish mustang. Half an hour later he left his mount in a patch of cottonwoods that bordered the heretofore useless valley, and started on foot the remainder of the way to the irrigation dam. It was a rocky, rather steep climb even by the well-worn trail over which every pound of material had to be transported. Link walked along feeling the bulge of the money in his pocket, his step considerably lighter than it had been an hour ago.

On a rocky eminence which overlooked the dam and the broad acres to be irrigated, he saw three figures in conference. Jackpot Mell, the gunman, Roper Kilgo, and—yes, it was Gyp Vailie.

Link paused. His fingers encountered that anonymous note he had found. On quick impulse he untied his blue neckerchief. This he wrapped about his right hand as if it were injured, then strode casually forward.

"Here comes the guy that talks men into workin' for nothin'!" Kilgo greeted caustically.

Jackpot smiled his dry, reserved smile. Vailie darted beady eyes for a means of escape but Fleming blocked the only exit. He came on a tolerant look on his tanned face. "Wouldn't put it that way, Roper. The boys know it takes money, and that Helen and I are a little hard pressed right now."

"Yuh'll be harder pressed, an' then not pressed at all!" scoffed the thickest rancher.

He meant that bankruptcy would end the project. Link halted sideways to Mell. "Say, Jackpot, will you reach that package out of my pocket? Got my hand between a mare and a corral bar. Jest get that wad of money, yuh yuh?"

All three stared from Link's hand to his trousers' pocket. They exchanged frowns of surprise. "Money?"

"Payroll money, five hundred bucks of it. Oh, by the way," Fleming added carelessly as he accepted the wad from Jackpot, "I wish yuh'd do me a favor, Roper. Write me a note to Marty Bush, since I can't do it myself with this bad paw."

Kilgo tilted back his sombrero and summoned a friendly look that was not deceiving. "Well, shore, I'll write yore note." He produced a stub of pencil and Link gave him a page out of a pocket notebook. Learning to use a boulder for a desk, the man looked up inquiringly.

"Write this," Fleming requested. "Dear Marty: I'm bankin' on you to sell those steers Thursday and get me cash instead of a bill of lading, as Miss Hamilton and I have to raise money quick for the dam. I'll meet you at Holmes Junction Thursday morning for it. Just sign my name," he ended. "Much obliged."

He turned to go back to the main trail but could not resist one parting shot. "Glad you let me win that ground three years ago, Roper. Yes, sir," he chuckled, "take a good look at the dam and wasteland—you can tell it's going to jump from fifty cents to two hundred an acre!"

Now Science Explains Why So Many People Past 40

Feel That They're Slipping Losing Their "Grip" on Things

Many people 'round 40 think they're 'growing old.' They feel tired a lot... "weak." Have headaches, dizziness, stomach upsets.

Well, scientists say the cause of all this, in a great many cases, is simply an acid condition of the stomach. Nothing more.

All you have to do is to neutralize the excess stomach acidity. When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals and before going to bed. That's all!

Try this. Soon you'll feel like another person! Take either the familiar liquid "PHILLIPS'" or the convenient new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets. Made in Canada.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM: Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at all drug stores everywhere. Each single tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Reduce Relief Lists

Tourist Trade Expected To Give More Employment To Women

A statement issued by the Dominion tourist bureau that the coming season is expected to be one of the most successful since the boom years prior to 1929, foretells a great reduction in the number of Canadian women on relief lists.

Of more than 80,000 employable women on relief, according to statistics presented by Labor Minister Rogers in the House of Commons during a speech on the proposed national employment commission, nearly half come under the heading of domestic, hotel, restaurant and similar occupations. The tourist bureau believes many women under these headings will be re-employed when the tourist season gets underway.
